

An Extra Steady Hand

YES! We found it!

We found the missing link. The illusive extra steady hand at a well hidden stand at this years Photokina fair in Köln.

Almost by chance we stumbled on the cool new product and immediately got that sensation in the stomach; wow what a great product. The feeling was immediately replaced by the "Why did I not think of this?"

Well it's here and what a great innovation - it will help you in many ways.

Now you might ask: "What is the pod?"

It is a bean bag with a bolt attachment for your camera or camcorder that will help you in different situations. The Pod is water prof. It is made of sturdy nylon that is water resistant. The contents are plastic pellets that are not bothered by moisture, temperature, dust... etc.

Senario 1:

A dark night. No tripod. Best light is from the moon or some streetlight. The scenery is "that one shot"! You simply place your camera on top of the Pod, position the camera - click the trigger - and .... as they say - the rest is history.

-----

Image goes here

-----

-----

Image goes here

-----

Senario 2:

You need to make a macro shoot and your tripod simply cant get this low. You have been hustling with book, McDonalds food cans and the cleaning cloth from your kitchen - no luck. Grab your pod - tilt and position your camera - Click!

-----

Image goes here

-----

We will bring you more on how we make good usage of this great Canadian innovation in the next issue. Find your local dealer at : www.thepod.ca

